PRODUCTION BEGUN.

The first truck-load of guano from the King bat cave arrived in Hondo Monday and was stored in a warehouse pending shipment by rail. Since the initial arrival two or three more truck-loads have been added to the accumulation. The first load weighed 4,300 pounds and it is estimated that about twenty truck-loads can be loaded into a car.

Since the early settlement of Medina County, what has been known as the Ney bat cave in the hills of the northern part of the county has been periodically mined for its valuable deposits of bat guano, product of the millions of bats that den in the cavern. As far back as the Civil War the guano was mined for its ammonia which was utilized by the Southern Confederacy in the manufacture of gunpowder for the Confederate army.

Some months ago, mention of which was made in these columns at the time, adventurous spirits explored more deeply into the cavern and the community was surprised to learn that only the antechamber had been worked and that there are deposits of guano further back in its deeper recesses more vast than had been dreamed of by those who had been working the cave heretofore.

The passageways leading back from the antechamber led under lands belonging to the King estate and the openings through the rocks were too small to bring out the guano by the natural opening of the cavern. It looked for a while as if the discovery would lie dormant and be of no immediate profit to anyone. But after overcoming many seemingly insurmountable difficulties, Messrs. Roy A. Carter and Preston C. Gaines sank a shaft through the rock covering some thirty-odd feet deep, set up hoisting machinery and are now mining the deposits—deposits that are described as enormous. Bat guano is nature's richest fertilizer and properly utilized produces a vegetable growth that rivals Jack's beanstalk in both rapidity and volume of growth. The young men have opened a source of wealth more valuable to humanity by far than a gold mine or an oil well and here is hoping they may reap a reward proportionately.

AEROPLANE WRECKED.

An aeroplane showing evidences of distress attracted the attention of several of our citizens in the fore part of the night Monday, and in response a very much shaken young man was found in a lane about a mile east of town. He had baled out of the plane and abandoned his parachute after landing.

The man, James L. Bledsoe by name, is a 23-year-old Kelly Field cadet. He had suffered only a few scratches and was able to return to duty Wednesday.

Neither the plane nor the parachute could be found before the next day, when the wreck was found in the Graff pasture with the motor buried in the ground. It was brought to Tillotson's garage where it has been an object of considerable curiosity.

Bledsoe was on a night cross-country flight to Fort Clark and was on his return trip when his motor quit. He was released at an altitude of 2,000 feet. He released one of his two landing flares which revealed a field for landing. He circled over there and released his second flare, which failed to burn. He was at 1,000 feet and couldn't see the field. He jumped. The plane crashed nearby, but did not burn.

Bledsoe's home is in Los Angeles, Calif. He graduates from the school in June.

PLEASED WITH HELP RECEIVED.

Mr. J. W. Hutt, editor of the Rock Springs Record but now with the Old Age Assistance Commission, was a caller at this office Tuesday. In an interview, he asked the Anvil Herald to say for them that the investigators for Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, working in Medina County during the week just past and a part of this week, want to thank Judge R. J. Noonan and the Commissioners representing the Commissioners' Precincts in the four subdivisions of the county, for furnishing "guides" in different precincts, acquainted with the applicants for Old Age Assistance.

This has assisted very materially in investigators reaching the applicants throughout this section in the shortest length of time, and makes it possible for the reports on applicants to go forward many days sooner, possibly, than had the county judge and commissioners not taken the interest in these applicants as was shown in their minutes, granting guides in each precinct the early part of last week.

Judge Noonan also turned his office over to investigators to use while here in compiling reports and other information, furnishing typewriters, paper, etc., all of which is appreciated by investigators.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

"After that, He was seen of above 500 brethren at once, of whom the greater part remain unto this present, but some are fallen asleep." I Cor. 15, 6.

It is of vast importance to us that 25 years after Jesus rose again from the dead, His apostle St. Paul, presents a great array of witnesses to Jesus' resurrection, among whom are the 500 brethren.

It is also important to know what Paul says of these brethren. The greater part remain, they tarry. That indicates what kind of a life they were living. Undoubtedly they had their respective callings, etc., but they realized that they were on the waiting list, they were as pilgrims and strangers in a foreign land waiting upon their daily occupations faithfully, but also waiting for His glorious appearing.

And what about those who do not remain? "Some are fallen asleep." Significant words also, which show what kind of a death comes to those who have seen and believed in the risen Lord. They are not dead; they merely sleep. Their bodies, earthly remains rest in the grave while their souls are commended into God's gracious care. When the great day of "awakening" comes, these bodies will be raised and become like unto Christ's own glorious body.

To live or to remain; to die or to sleep; a vast difference after all.

Asleep in Jesus! Oh, for me May such a blissful refuge be; Securely shall my ashes lie, And wait the summons from on high. Amen.

Ascension Day is on Thursday, May 21, and services will be held on that night in the English language beginning at 8:00 o'clock. At this time our departed will be remembered in a special memorial devotion. Come and join with these that remain to honor those who have fallen asleep.

Sunday, May 17, English service at 10:30. Service at Sprotville May 17 at 2:30.

HONDO VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT.

In response to a request in a recent issue of this paper, in which each adult person, living in or near Hondo, was asked to contribute ten cents or more per month for the upkeep of the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department, we find that the response has been gratifying. Contributions have been generous from a number of persons, and one property-owner paid up for ten years in advance, adding that if the Fire Department needed further assistance to call on him anytime. We have like statements from other people of this town. Are you giving us like support? We need your financial assistance, as it is through voluntary subscriptions that the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department is maintained.

In the near future postcards will be mailed to every firm and business house, which outlines the plan briefly, which we hope you will read; then please sign same, signifying that you will do your part, and return the card to the Secretary-Treasurer or any member of the Fire Department. Hondo Volunteer Fire Dept.

DORCAS CLASS.

The Dorcas Class met on Wednesday afternoon, May 6th, at the home of Mrs. Ray Jennings with eighteen members present. At the close of the business session it was revealed to each member who their Sunshine Sister had been for the past month. During the social hour several games of "42" were played, after which delectable ice cream and cake were served to the following: Mesdames F. L. McWilliams, Jim Duncan, Toby Taylor, E. G. Pone, Robert Kollman, E. E. Kollman, Ed. Baker, O. G. Crow, Bill Crow, N. F. Woods, Hy. Windrow, Horace Crow, M. Beal, Jack Fusselman, Jr., T. B. COLE-SAATHOFF.

The parsonage of the First Baptist Church of San Antonio was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday evening, May 9, at 8 o'clock, when Miss Ida Mae Saathoff, the only daughter of Mrs. Ehme Saathoff, and Mr. R. T. Cole, of Beaumont, were united in wedlock by Dr. Roy Angel, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The ring ceremony was used.

The only attendants were Miss Tillie Weyerts, close friend of the bride, and Mr. Mathies Saathoff, brother of the bride.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a tearose lace gown with grey accessories, and Miss Weyerts wore a very pretty pink sheer creation.

After the ceremony, the wedding party adjourned to the home of Mrs. Katherine Fearnons where the wedding cake was cut and refreshments were served to a group of close friends of the bride and groom by Mrs. W. M. Cole.

The bride has been employed by Judge Duval West for the past two years, and the groom is engaged in business with his uncle, Mr. Warren Payne, proprietor of the San Antonio Market.

After spending their honeymoon in Beaumont and other points, the young couple will make their home in San Antonio, where the young husband will continue in his present business.

COUNTY SURVEY FOR CENTENNIAL ROSTER.

Canvass of Medina County for biographical and historical material for the Texas Centennial Roster is being made, bringing to light many interesting facts in the family history of residents of this county. The Texas Centennial Bureau of the Permanent Roster describes the aim of its work as twofold: (1) the collection in printed form of incidents of family history which shed light upon the development of the county and State; and (2) the establishment of a permanent source of genealogical information for descendants of families included in the Centennial Roster. The value of this will appear at the next Centennial.

In parallel with the Historical Exhibits Department of the Centennial Exposition, Dallas, which is conducting a search for important and interesting Texas relics, pictures, and written documents, the Centennial Roster Bureau in San Antonio conducts this search for family traditions of historical interest which are yet unwritten and in no tangible permanent form.

The survey is being made by counties, at the completion of which all matter will be edited, published, and bound, possibly by the end of the summer. Publication is being financed by the sale of Centennial Publicity Stamps. Copies of the Roster will be deposited in county archives also distributed free to the families contributing data.

LADIES' BRIDGE CLUB.

The Ladies' Bridge Club met with Mrs. Fletcher Davis on Thursday afternoon of last week. Decorations were lavender and white spring blossoms. High score prizes went to Mrs. O. B. Taylor for club and Mrs. Volney Boon for guests. Cut prizes were won by Mrs. L. E. Heath and Mrs. R. C. Rath. Refreshments of peach salad, saltines, cake and iced tea were served to the following: Mesdames L. J. Brucks, Volney Boon, Ed. Cameron, J. M. Finger, L. E. Heath, Robert Kollman, W. O. Rothe, Alice Reinhart, R. C. Rath, Earl Starnes, F. H. Schweers, O. B. Taylor and the hostess, Mrs. Davis.

NOTICE, PARENTS.

There will be a physical examination for pre-school children held at the school house Tuesday morning, May 19. All parents please have their children there.

MRS. A. G. BLESS,
Chairman.

QUIHI NOTES.

Now therefore swear unto me here by God that thou wilt not deal falsely with me. Gen. 21:23.

Abimelech, the king, is waiting for the signature of Abraham for the treaty agreed upon. The mere word of promise does not suffice; it must be given under oath, calling upon God as a witness. He knows Abraham is above suspicion; is the king shaky in his own sincerity? Have the stipulations been made without mental reservation, without a catch to them? Is he worried about the sanctity of the pact or the lion's share that might be disputed when future developments disclose duplicity and downright dishonesty? Who makes treaties for the sole benefit of the other fellow? Who does not expect the better part of the bargain?

What nation has lived up to its treaties, whether made under unbiased deliberation or under duress and stricture? Which are eternal, which expedient, time-serving, transient? The paths of recorded history are macadamized with scrapped treaties. Might is still right, as the latest escapades in Ethiopia show, and 52 nations seem to be unable to change that cynic philosophy and tradition. For this reason only, the peace of the world hangs in the balance, and that hectic international race for rearmament is an unveiled declaration that no nation really trusts in treaties. Their wording, the letter, strives for law and order, the spirit, with few exceptions, makes for chaos, and one wonders ever so often, how easy it is to trim up a "casus belli", a cause for war, and turn a peace-loving nation into a howling mob, ready for every sacrifice in money and blood, regardless of existing treaties. "Swear unto me by God." For a god-fearing man this has binding force; even without it his yea is a yea and his nay, a nay, God has no room in modern treaties; the world, as always, wants a godless, independent course; more often God would have to decline the invitation to become a partner in the pact. And so the world gets what it bargains for: "Words, words, Horatio," alias "scraps of paper".

Evelyn Elizabeth were the names given to the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grell when she was brought to holy baptism last Sunday. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reus. May the blessings of the triune God rest upon the child forevermore.

"Mother's Day" brought in a fair crowd of worshippers and we trust that also the absentees have thought of their mother, the greatest jewel in God's creation, if she is a handmaid of God. Also the League program was dedicated to her honor with choice selections in word and song. Unfortunately, the service at New Fountain was rained out, but we shall try to make up for it.

Thursday, May the 21st, is Ascension Day and Memorial Day with us. A German service is scheduled for 10 o'clock at the cemetery. The Quihi parish has been the stock community for many descendants now living in a wide radius of the county and beyond. We invite them cordially to help us honor the dead in a befitting way.

The Ladies' Aid intends to celebrate the twelfth anniversary with a social for the members and their families on the evening of the 28th, and a special service on the 31st of this month. They really have been an "Aid" in many ways and the anniversary celebration is only a small acknowledgment.

Announcements for May the 17th: German service at 10; Sunday school in all departments at 9; English service at 7:45. With one mind and one mouth glorify God. Rom. 15: 6.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Askew and baby were visitors with us last Sunday. The morning and evening messages of Brother Askew were inspiring as well as appreciated by all who were privileged to hear him.

Next Sunday, May 17, we anticipate the pleasure of hearing Brother Theo. Thomas of Hallettsville preach for us at both morning and evening services.

For the morning services on the following Sunday, May 24th, we will join the community in hearing the Senior Class receive its Baccalaureate Address. The evening services will begin at 8 o'clock and Rev. Cole of Seguin has consented to speak at that time.

Dr. J. A. Held will be here at the invitation of the church for the week beginning May 31st to lead us in a week of prayer and help us in every way possible to the end that we may be more quickly prepared to do constructive work in this our field.

THINK THIS OVER.

The people of Chicago were informed by the county clerk that the tax rate would be raised this year. Why? Because of bond issues recently approved by the voters and taxpayers. Commenting on this increase, George W. Hinman, in the Chicago Herald Examiner, says:

"The county clerk gives the reason for higher taxes—the continuing flood of bonds. It would be well if every state, county and city official who has to do with bonds and taxes would be equally frank in giving the reason for rising tax rates.

"As it is, the taxpayers go on voting new bonds and groaning under the burdens and deprivations which the bond issues inflict upon them.

"Unless somehow the taxpayers of the United States learn more about the taxes they pay, there is rough awakening somewhere ahead.

"The total debt of state and local governments today in the United States is today around 12 billions. Most of this is in bonds.

"In the last four years these bonds have increased by at least four billions. The interest on this colossal debt has to be paid. The debt itself has to be paid. By whom? By the taxpayers.

"So it comes that besides half a billion in yearly interest, there is a growing amount of principal to be met—just as if it had been borrowed by the associated taxpayers at the bank.

"How do these colossal bonded debts oppress the individual taxpayer? In three ways. In the first place, he finds his own personal taxes going up from year to year. In the second place, he finds that many of the things he buys are made to cost more on account of the increasing taxes which the manufacturer has to pay.

"In the third place, if he has investments, his dividends are reduced because of the growing amounts deducted for taxes from the business profits of the companies whose stock he holds."—Selected.

THE HOLE IN YOUR POCKET.

A survey of recent industrial financial statements shows that one problem, above all others, is engaging the attention of business leaders. That problem is taxation.

During the first phase of the recovery movement, the output of many industries greatly advanced—but profits didn't, largely because of the increasing inroad of the tax collector into business' revenues. Today, with business betterment farther advanced, profits are rising—but, in the view of many experts, not by any sound proportion as compared to increased output. And again, the reason is largely excessive taxation. Executives and investors are beginning to wonder, and are justified in wondering, whether it will be possible for industry, even though "prosperity" of a sort returns, to earn profits compatible with the volume of sales and the risks of carrying on and expanding a business.

Government retrenchment, and the adoption of a plan looking toward the earliest possible balancing of the distorted budget, would do more than anything else in the cause of recovery, reemployment of the millions of unemployed, and the widespread investment of capital. Every citizen who wants a job and savings and real security would benefit.—Industrial News Review.

DESTRUCTION BY TAXATION.

Sober-thinking citizens in every walk of life are simply astounded by the proposed tax on undistributed corporation profits proposed in the new Federal revenue measure.

Whether it is a bill to raise revenue or to destroy holding companies by the taxation method, no one seems to know.

Commenting on it editorially, The New York Times, in a non-partisan, analytical article, says the bill is "nothing less than a new and quicker 'death penalty' for holding companies, not only in the public utility, but in every field.

"If we are to have such a harmful 'reform', we should at least not permit it to be made under the pretense of being something else—namely a tax raising measure.

In the meantime business leaders and investors stand aghast at the working (or lack of working) of the congressional mind.—Industrial News Review.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Mussolini Says Conquered Ethiopia Will Be Italian Colony—House Battles Over New Relief Bill—Some Campaign Developments.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD © Western Newspaper Union.

ETHIOPIA is conquered, Emperor Haile Selassie has fled to Palestine aboard a British cruiser, and the Italian army is in possession of Addis Ababa. The war in East Africa is ended. But this climax may be only the beginning of a still greater story, for Benito Mussolini tells the world that all of Ethiopia now belongs to Italy, to be treated as a colony and defended by force of arms if necessary. He toned this down just a little by giving the French ambassador assurance that he would not infringe on French and British interests in East Africa, meaning the French railway from Djibouti to Addis Ababa and the British interests in the Lake Tana headwaters of the Blue Nile. If Duce intimated that if France and Britain would support his program he would give them full trade privileges in Ethiopia and exclude all other nations.

The League of Nations council was about to meet in Geneva and it was believed the anti-Fascist sentiment among the French left parties that have just come into power would influence the French attitude there. The British, too, were said not to be reconciled to Mussolini's victory and it was understood Foreign Secretary Eden would insist on continuance of the penalties against Italy, provided the other leading nations agreed. Indeed, the league could not well raise the sanctions if the European powers take the stand assumed last fall by the United States and refuse to recognize acquisition of territory by force. All of them realize such recognition in this case would create a dangerous precedent.

Mussolini's success in East Africa is a humiliating defeat for Great Britain, and a sad blow to the prestige of the League of Nations. Anthony Eden told the house of commons that Britain's failure to take military sanctions against Italy was "due to the horror of war and not to fear of the ultimate outcome." The Laborites enraged Eden by their attacks and he refused to disclose what the government's policy at Geneva might be, demanding a free hand to deal with circumstances as they might arise.

One result in Washington of the taking of Addis Ababa was severe criticism of the State department for having so wretchedly protected a legation there. Minister Engert had only a few weapons and the building was open to attack. Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts introduced a resolution calling on Secretary Hull for information as to measures taken for protection of the legation staff.

EMPEROR HAILE SELASSIE of Ethiopia gave up the hopeless fight against the Italian invaders and fled from Addis Ababa with his family. Mussolini's victorious troops soon after marched into the capital, the first to enter being a picked regiment representing all units of the Italian army, the Askari, air force, engineers, grenadiers, bersaglieri, Alpini, cavalry, marines and Fascist militiamen.

Their coming was welcomed by the foreigners who remained in the city, for as soon as the negus left, the natives began to pillage, plunder and burn. The business center of the town was speedily wrecked and the government buildings were stormed and razed, these including the treasury from which the state's store of gold was stolen, and the armory. The streets were strewn with corpses and the Ethiopians, crazed by liquor, rushed about shooting at random and gathering up their loot to carry it to the hills.

WITH the introduction of the unemployment relief bill calling for appropriation of a billion and a half dollars, a lively fight started in the house. The Republicans and a fair sized bloc of Democrats attacked the measure chiefly because the entire big sum was to be turned over to Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, in accordance with the wishes of President Roosevelt. The Chief Executive had refused to countenance the earmarking of $400,000,000 for projects of the heavy type sponsored by Secretary Ickes, head of the Public Works administration, and so the adherents of the latter gentleman were prepared to revive the old Ickes-Hopkins feud. Majority Leader Bankhead was confident the bill would be passed as reported by the appropriations committee.

At a Republican caucus Representative John Taber of New York, ranking minority member of the appropriations committee, explained the measure to his colleagues as that they could conduct an "intelligent opposition to it. He promised a real fight on the bill. When Hopkins was before the committee in secret session, he was ordered to give detailed information concerning his expenditure of the four billions doled him by congress last year. Hopkins reluctantly admitted that nearly two billions of the original huge fund was still unexpended.

Added to the extra one and a half billions requested by President Roosevelt, Hopkins would have three and a half billions to spend in an election year, it was pointed out.

CALIFORNIA'S Presidential Republican preference primary, eagerly awaited by the whole country, resulted in the defeat of the Landon slate of delegates that was put forward by William R. Hearst and Governor Merriam, with Landon's tacit consent.

The winning delegates, backed by Herbert Hoover and nominally pledged to Earl Warren though unopposed, carried the state by a majority of about 90,000. Mr. Warren announced at once that he released them from their pledge, to vote as they see fit in the convention. This looked like a blow to Governor Landon, and to a certain extent it was; but his managers claim at least 18 of the delegates will go over to the Kansan on an early ballot. Moreover, many friends of Landon deprecated the fact that Hearst was supporting him, believing it would do him more harm than good; and they were glad to see him freed in part from what they consider an incubus.

Democrats voted almost solidly for Mr. Roosevelt. Upton ("Epic") Sinclair's ticket received something over 100,000 votes, and that of John S. McGroarty, Townsend plan supporter, about half as many.

In South Dakota a slate of unopposed delegates favoring Landon won over a ticket pledged to Senator Borah, though the margin was slender.

HENRY P. FLETCHER, Republican national chairman, has taken a leaf from the plans of the Democrats and announces that the men nominated at the Cleveland convention to head the Republican ticket will be notified of the fact at a grand outdoor ceremony in the Municipal stadium, near the convention hall, immediately after the adjournment. This plan, of course, is conditional upon the wishes of the nominees. The Democrats had previously announced plans to notify President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner of their re-nomination with a ceremony at Franklin field, Philadelphia.

SENATOR ARTHUR H. VANDENBERG of Michigan has asked Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald of that state to present his name to the Republican convention in Cleveland for the Presidential nomination, but the senator insists this does not make him an active candidate.

"The Michigan state convention generously instructed the Michigan delegation in Cleveland to present my name," the senator said. "But the delegation is unpledged—at my request. It is free to vote as it pleases. I have not sought a delegation here or elsewhere and I shall not do so. I have not sought the nomination and shall not do so. My situation is not changed in the slightest."

Friends of Senator Borah in Utah tried unsuccessfully for a Borah pledged delegation from that state. The Republican state convention in Ogden voted to send an unopposed group to Cleveland, following the recommendation of the resolutions committee.

Col. Henry Breckenridge, who offered himself to the Democrats as a Presidential nominee aspirant merely so that disaffected members of the party might have some place to go, received about one-seventh of the votes in the Maryland preference primary. The rest, of course, went to Mr. Roosevelt. Breckenridge made no campaign.

THE national resources committee, which is headed by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, has submitted for the approval of President Roosevelt a plan for the creation of a Pacific Northwest Power agency that would outlive the Tennessee Valley authority and would produce almost as much electrical energy as the entire nation could utilize.

Two of the New Deal's power ventures, the Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams, would be embraced by the PNPA. The ultimate cost of Bonneville will be 75 million dollars and that of Grand Coulee 204 millions. The additional dam and power plant projects proposed by the committee would entail expenditures of approximately 526 millions, making a total of 805 millions.

Mussolini Goes Through Practical Class—Snake Killed One—Which End of the Gun?

Mussolini's men entered Addis Ababa, driving out the Ethiopian looters, bringing safety to various foreigners, including our own minister.

Arthur Brisbane

Rome went wild with joy; and no wonder. In seven months Mussolini has conquered Ethiopia's millions, killing and wounding 250,000 of them, marching steadily ahead through dangerous valleys and high mountains, driving out the Ethiopian armies, that were directed by skilled soldiers from Turkey, Scandinavia and elsewhere.

Those impressed by the high qualities of Ethiopia's Arab slave-trading ruler will note that in the great crisis his presence of mind remained. The Associated Press says he took with him on the British boat "the imperial family jewels, many cases of gold bullion and gold coins." On his way from Addis Ababa to the British ship he stopped to take all the cash from the treasury and customs house at Dire Dawa.

In Florida, a well-meaning preacher, who thought it his duty to let rattlesnakes bite him to show the power of God, actually did let the snakes bite him without first removing their fangs. He is dead, the jury said, "by the bite of a rattlesnake through his own carelessness."

The poor fanatic succeeded only in proving the power of rattlesnake poison. The laws of the universe could hardly be suspended to justify the whim of one well-meaning fanatic.

It makes a difference, even to the No. 1 Public Enemy, "I'll-never-be-taken-alive" bandit, which way the gun is pointed. Mr. Karpis is taken, much alive, with no struggle, beyond holding a straw hat over his face to baffle photographers.

Much efficiency in cash rewards; Dillinger defied all the "G-men"; a reward was offered, and a red-haired lady delivered him to the "G-men" bullets, and got $5,000.

Whether the $7,000 reward offered for Karpis tempted some friend of that courageous one remains to be seen.

The criminal is in business for money, and when he can sell a friend for $5,000, that seems preferable to risking his own life. The reward system should be extended; $5,000 reward for evidence resulting in arrest and conviction of any murderer.

The Carnegie Institute announces a "new law of matter" having to do with the "cohesion of infinitesimal particles of matter within the atom."

If it were not for that law, according to scientists, "the universe would consist of nothing but light hydrogen gas." That should interest politicians, who, after the big conventions, will live, until November, in a universe consisting of something lighter than "light hydrogen gas."

England's new king, Edward the Eighth, is said to be engaged to marry the Princess Alexandrine Louise of Denmark, twenty-one years old, the English king's third cousin.

The uncle of the young lady says he and her father know nothing of it. Nevertheless, it is difficult to believe that King Edward will remain a bachelor, whether he marries this charming young princess or some other, possibly a good healthy young Scotch girl, if one available could be found.

Dr. Walter Emerson Briggs, who teaches dentistry in Tufts college, says "women can take any kind of pain without a whimper."

Women endure pain more courageously than men. Childbirth has taught them to suffer and endure in isolation. Man shows his heroism preferably in crowds, in squadrons, platoons; often he would not do that if it did not take more courage to stay behind alone than to go ahead with the others.

Women's is the courageous sex, man is the other kind and might as well admit it.

The only certain immortality is represented by our children left behind to work on this earth. It must be of great interest to provide a child to fill a throne and rule the world's greatest empire—whether or not it lasts.

Two misguided Mexicans decided to ring bells of the ancient mission church at Juarez, Mexico, to celebrate the nomination of a National Revolutionary candidate for governor of Chihuahua. The pious ladies of Juarez thought those old bells should not be rung for any revolutionary candidate, and it became necessary for troops to rescue the bellingers from the infuriated women, giving a good imitation of Euripides man-hunting Bacchae.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted By WILLIAM BRUCKART

NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington.—Business, as represented by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, again has clashed with the New Deal, and again the canonading by business added nothing. Its attacks apparently bothered the New Deal not at all, for the New Deal has proceeded after the manner of the mastiff trotting along without concern while a poodle barked and snarled.

Business made no overtures for compromise with the New Deal and New Deal spokesmen were not hastening to make peace with business leaders. Altogether, there was not the slightest indication given that there will ever be peace between the two elements of economic thought.

The one thing that impressed me about the recent annual meeting here of the chamber of commerce was the solidarity of business in its opposition to general New Deal principles. That was to be expected but it has not always been the case. In days past, there were many business groups and individuals who adhered to the New Deal and vainly tried to work out an understanding with the administration. At this annual meeting, however, there was not the slightest effort made on the part of business to accomplish any arrangement whereby business and the administration would work together.

This can mean only one thing: President Roosevelt is going into his campaign for re-election without the support of business interests except where, in particular lines, benefit has accrued incidentally to specific businesses.

One would think that such a condition would constitute a threat against the President's re-election. Such appears not to be the case, however, because of the particular type of campaign which Mr. Roosevelt and his political commander in chief, Postmaster General Farley, are making. The President's recent political speeches have made it quite clear that he is seeking support wholly from the agricultural and labor segments of our voters. His appeals are quite open and frank and they are drawing considerable criticism because it is held they constitute the initiation of class struggle in this country. Whatever the reason for the President's course, it remains as a fact that he is very busy cultivating voters who have suffered most in the depression.

When I reported above that business came off second best in its fresh assault on the New Deal, I did not mean to imply that it had not made a vigorous fight. It probably gained some ground in getting before the country its side of the story, a phase of our national situation which has not been as fully advertised to the country as have the activities and accomplishments of the New Deal. The story of the losses suffered by business actually is not a great deal different from that of the individual, and many businesses are existing on a hand-to-mouth basis just as is the case with thousands of individuals. Because business, in our mind's eye, at least, is larger than an individual, political demagogues regard it as fair game and for that reason, I am inclined to believe, business has not had a fair chance on the part of most of us when considering national problems.

On the other hand, business has many units within the whole that have not played fair. There are a great many corporations that are guilty of plain oppression, even to the extent of fraud and corruption of business methods. For the crookedness of this segment, all business has been blamed by the New Deal. This is not equity. The unhappy part of it all is that unless all business stands together, good, bad and in-between, it can get nowhere at all in defense of its legitimate rights.

There is, therefore, a wholly natural and yet quite unfair result emanating from this condition. New Deal planners, in their efforts to catch the crooks, have punished legitimate business far too much if one is to accept even partially the public statements and the private expressions of the business men who attended the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce. This ought not to be and I think that legitimate business has just ground for complaint on this score.

So, as the situation now stands, I believe it can be said in all fairness that neither side in this battle between the New Deal and business comes into court with entirely clean hands. Business has its cancerous sores. The New Deal has its nitwits and theorists who know nothing about practical economics. The result of this is plainly seen, and it becomes more and more apparent that Mr. Roosevelt cannot accomplish his objective of complete recovery until he directs some of his subordinates to put their feet on the ground. Indeed, there are some of the New Deal subordinates who ought to be tossed bodily into the street, just as there are some business men who ought to be thrown into jail.

The chamber of commerce meeting brought forth the information that business, as a whole, had kept hundreds of thousands of workers on its collective pay rolls during the depression when conditions did not justify their retention. The claim was advanced that business had expended something like twenty billions in wages paid from stored-up reserves. It was further asserted that business was alone responsible for such gains toward recovery as have been made.

New Deal spokesmen, from President Roosevelt on down, have consistently accused business of failure to take on workers and help solve the unemployment problem. At the same time, the banking structure of the country has been accused chiefly by the President of refusal to extend credit to business, and business as a whole has been classified by the President as greedy.

It seems safe to say that as regards these charges, business does have an answer, for throughout all history capital has refused to work unless there was a reasonable promise of return. Now, in addition to the lack of that promised return, business is and has been constantly confronted with uncertainties on the part of the New Deal. The present pending tax legislation is typical. The most dangerous provision of that legislation is that which will prevent business from building up reserves such as those upon which it has been drawing during the depression.

If the business claim is true that it has paid out twenty billions more than its operations justified for wages during the depression, it causes one to ponder over the future. One is inclined to ask what strength business will have to do even as much for the working classes during the next depression as it has done in this one.

With reference to the New Deal policies toward business, a statement by the Rural Electrification administration has just come to my desk. It touches on that very delicate question of how far the government can enter into business in competition with private enterprise without destroying or driving out private initiative. The complaint on the part of private business that the government is continually wedging its way into private fields is well known but the REA statement puts something of a new slant on the view. In fact, it brings to the front one of the elements of government in business not generally recognized.

The REA statement consists of a letter from REA Administrator Morris Cooke to the State Corporation Commission of Virginia. The Virginia commission was urged to consider the situation in which the REA and one of its loans will be placed in event of a certain ruling by the Virginia officials. In effect, Administrator Cooke asked the Virginia commission to rule against private business in order that a $366,000 loan made by REA to a co-operative organization in Virginia can be protected.

To review the facts briefly, let me explain that a private electric company applied to the Virginia commission for authority to extend its lines for transmission of energy into a farming section adjacent to cities served by the electric company. It happened that the REA had sent agents into this same territory and had obtained promises from many farmers to buy electricity from a co-operative concern to be organized and financed by REA. The private company apparently horned in to what Mr. Cooke thought was the territory of REA by right of discovery or some other such reason, and so he is now engaged in attempting at least to prevent the private company from entering that field.

The point of this circumstance is that here is a federal agency, steeped in bureaucracy and with the usual bureaucratic thirst for power, which actually is attempting to drive private industry out of its way. It is doing it under the thinly disguised reason of protecting a government loan.

I have heard considerable discussion of this case. Many observers and students of economic questions contend that the federal government has absolutely no right to engage in that sort of business. While it may be, and probably can be, said that the electric company was attempting to take the cream of the crop by extending its lines only to territory adjacent to its headquarters, the fact remains that private company would do well to be cut down proportionately by the extension of the federal activities into that area. It may appear that the workers displaced for the private company will be taken on by the federally financed co-operative lines but such is not the case. It is just one more indication of how government, once it enters private business, continues to expand and to destroy initiative which private enterprise has and which government never has been known to have.

PAINFUL CONDITION RELIEVED BY CARDIAC

"I was very weak and nervous when a young girl at home," writes Mrs. J. H. Daniel, of Biloxi, Ga. "My mother was so uneasy about me she did not ask me to help with the work. My mother decided to give me Cardui and she didn't want me to miss a dose, after she found it was helping me. I gained and it was splendid how I responded to the treatment. After six bottles of Cardui I was regular and the pain and trouble stopped. I grew strong." Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit you, consult a physician.

Cross Children May Need Simple Laxative

When children are cross and touchy give them Feen-a-mint, the delightful chewing gum laxative. Feen-a-mint begins its pleasant effect as soon as you start chewing it. For this reason, it is a most desirable and healthy, fresh taste to the mouth. As you chew out the laxative ingredient which is absolutely tasteless, the flow of digestive juices is increased. The laxative is mixed with these juices and carried into the system evenly and gently. Feen-a-mint does not gripe, nauseate or cause upset and is non-habit-forming. It passes through the stomach and into the bowels so scientifically that the action is wonderfully easy and thorough. Try the pleasant, refreshing Feen-a-mint way. Doctors prescribe its laxative ingredient for both children and adults. Sold on a money back guarantee. Generous family size package 15c and 25c.

No Need to Suffer "Morning Sickness"

"Morning sickness"—is caused by an acid condition. To avoid it, acid must be offset by alkalis—such as magnesia.

Why Physicians Recommend
MILNIESIA Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—the most pleasant way to take it. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewing thoroughly, then swallowing, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system and insure quick, complete elimination of the waste materials that cause gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 42, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

Start using these delicious, effective anti-acid, gently laxative wafers today! Professional samples sent free to registered physicians or dentists if request is made on professional letterhead. Select Postage on official letterhead. Select Postage. Inc. 4402 23rd St., Long Island City, N. Y.

F. G. BLESS DEAD.

F. G. Bless, 74, Kinney County pioneer, died Saturday morning, May 9, at 1:45 o'clock at his home four miles west of Brackettville. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence. Interment was made in the Masonic Cemetery in Brackettville under the direction of the Doran Funeral Home of Del Rio.

Bless was one of the early settlers in Kinney County, moving there from the Hondo country.

Mrs. Bless died about a year ago and a son, George, died in Alpine several years ago.

Survivors include one son, Henry Bless, Brackettville, and two daughters, Mrs. Will Dooley, Brackettville, and Mrs. James Nader, who resides on a ranch in Kinney County. Several grandchildren as well as relatives in Hondo also survive.

Quite a number of Medina County relatives and friends attended the funeral.

Earl Watson, local distributor of the popular Purina feeds, was over at Sabinal Pura night early this week when the Purina people put on a movie show at the local theatre showing the manufacture and use of their feed products. A fine rain, amounting to almost two inches fell here late Wednesday evening, putting the soil in a fine condition. The rain came from the northeast and extended in a southerly direction. It was more or less local, however, in its extent. A good general rain is needed by the whole country to assure continued growing weather for the corn crop which is now approaching its critical stage when it either makes or fails.

While fishing in Medina Lake last Friday Charles Schientz and Eddie Moehring landed two fine catfish. One weighed 16 pounds and would have been a humdinger if it had not been for the size of the other. Charlie vouches for it weighing 49 pounds. There is some question as to whether it was a "Jew" fish or was just caught by two honest fishermen who refuse to tell fish "stories" otherwise it might have weighed 50 pounds even!

Joe Wilson, proprietor of the Hondo Chick Hatchery, says the hatching business is about over for the summer and he will soon be closing his incubators until fall when he expects to resume hatching. He says he has enjoyed a big business, having found a good demand for baby chicks. He has been pleased with the way prices for eggs and poultry have kept up despite the large number produced. There is no doubt but what a good corn and sorghum grain crop this year and continued high prices for beef and pork will mean good profits in poultry for some time to come.

FINDINGS AND INTERPRETA- TIONS OF VOCATIONAL AG- RICULTURE TEACHING.

Vocational Education Bulletin No.
180 from the U. S. Office of Education reports interesting and valuable findings from studies made in the different states under college direction. 373 research studies for M. S. and Ph. D. degrees are reported.
N. Y., Cornell, 297:

In several institutions certain important phases of teaching work, such as supervising farm practice and organizing the course of study, are provided for, mainly in elective courses which may not be elected by all trainees.

Iowa, I. S. C.:
These farmers would eliminate all furniture and cabinet making from high school farm shop courses. They were not interested in having their boys taught things which have more cultural than practical value.

Mo., U. of Mo., 303:
Study of scholastic records of students in College of Ag. show a higher percentage of voc. than nonvocational students remained in college and received degrees; 96% of voc. students thought high school V. A. made college work in ag. easier; 45% believed high school ag. made college science easier; 23% indicated that even academic courses were made easier as result of high school ag.

Va., V. P. I., 306:
The data secured by the community survey improves the teaching of the instructor and gives valuable data for use in evening classes.

N. Y., Cornell, 309:
As result of voc. training 40% returned to farming as a vocation; 17% chose an occupation related to ag.; 43% chose unrelated occupations.

Ind., Purdue, 310:
Preparation of the student for useful and profitable employment on the farm is the chief objective of the work of the V. A. teacher.

Iowa, I. S. C., 311:
The percentage of persons taking
voc. courses who had followed the vocation for which they were prepared was considerably higher than the percentage of persons taking the academic or college preparatory courses who entered college.

Mass., Dept. Ed., 321:
60% were connected with agriculture; 40% were farming full time; 5% were farming part-time; 1% were in ag. education; 4% were in business related to ag.; 3% had ag. sidelines;
7% had gone to ag. colleges.

Tenn., Peabody, 323:
Institutions favor the organization of teacher-training work in separate departments to be called "Agricultural Education". They favor giving authority to the head of this dept., planning a 4-yr. curriculum, designating in the institutions which courses would be required or elective.

Iowa, I. S. C., 328:
Voc. projects should be selected from the major farm enterprises of the locality for their value in contributing to the realization of the community agricultural program, and should be of such scope as to include an entire production unit.

Va., Va.-Negro, 330:
A full year of observation and practice was recommended in order to provide for participation in a selected list of teaching activities.

Tenn., Peabody, 335:
Editors of local newspapers prefer farm news to urban news.

Nebr., U. Nebr., 339: Increased use of power on the farm makes it imperative that the farmer have a knowledge of power equipment which will enable him to operate it satisfactorily and make minor repairs, adequate training of teachers of V. A. for the future should include more training in farm mechanics, with the emphasis on operation, care and repair of modern farm equipment.

Wis., U. of W., 345:
Developing managerial ability is the chief vocational need.

N. C., N. C. S. C., 347:
The rapidly increasing enrollment and the growing list of schools offering V. A. instruction is a strong indication of the popularity, efficiency, and value of this type of instruction.

S. C., U. of S. C., 352:
Each V. A. teacher should direct and see to completion at least two home-improvement projects in his community each year.

Kan., U. of K., 354:
The shop course should grow out of the project and farmstead needs of the individual boy.

N. Y., Cornell, 356:
Criteria for evaluating content provisions should be made for the development of the skill needed under actual farming conditions of the region; provisions should be made for the development of knowledge needed to make a successful beginning in the farming of that region; the work should be organized so that it will be adapted to the abilities, needs, and experiences of the students throughout the course.

W. Va., U. of W. Va., 360:
Most frequent reason for dropped departments of V. A. is a poor or indifferent teacher.

N. Y., Cornell, 363:
Teachers of V. A. should have more technical agriculture.

Ohio, Columbia, 371:
Of 115 graduates of the curriculum of V. A., 77% were found in the field for which they were prepared.

From The Devine News.
BIG FARMER SELLS TRAINLOAD
BROOMCORN.

J. M. Burns sold the past week 70 tons broomcorn at $70 all around, 1936 crop. Counting 10 tons to the car it made around 7 car loads or a pretty good trainload, aggregating around $5,000. Since rains are falling in Kansas and Oklahoma, in time for crops there, farmers are turning loose here. Mr. Ward, local buyer, says there are around 50 cars here now, counting that going out this week.

James Duncan, deputy county tax collector, is driving a new 1936 V-8 coach.

NEW ROAD MAINTAINER PUR-CHASED HERE.

Commissioner J. W. Roberson has just purchased a new "Road Patrol" at a cost of several hundred dollars for the precinct, and it is now at work on the roads of the precinct and the streets of the town. It will not do heavy grading or ditching; but it moves fast and takes care of light draggings and filling up low places.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Miller of Brackettville and Mr. Ralph Biry of Freer were week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bader, and family. Mrs. Miller is remembered as Miss Lucille Bader. Mrs. Miller remained for several days before leaving for Hastings, Nebraska. Mr.
and Mrs. Miller have accepted a position in Nebraska. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Miller lots of luck in the future.

FROM YANCEY.

Last Thursday evening the Senior play was given and Saturday night
the Junior-Senior banquet.

Miss Frances Wilson and friend,
Miss Wright, from Santa Rosa Infirmary were out last week-end with the family of Mr. Harrison Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Baines and baby of Dallas were week-end visitors with Mr. Berry's family.

Mrs. Ora Hornsworth and son, Jackie, visited Mrs. McCaughan and family last week. They left for their home in Wharton Thursday.

Miss Grace Saathoff is home after teaching at Black Creek the past season.

Mrs. Raymond Taylor and daughter of Hondo visited Mrs. F. W.
Bohmalk last Sunday. They were accompanied by Mrs. George Windrow and children of Falfurrias.

Mr. C. J. Wiemers and family visited their daughter, Miss Lillian, the week before at San Marcos and came back via Poteet where they visited the families of L. T. and E. J. Fasel-er.

Rev. Carl Staben of Croula was here the week-end; also Ernest Holub came to spend the week-end with his mother.

Mr. Willie Faselier went to Hondo
Saturday and purchased a new Plymouth car.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Weekley are enjoying a visit from their mother of Smiley. She is recuperating from a recent operation in a hospital at Cuero.

Supt.-elect Smith and Mr. Smart, a teacher who will probably locate here, met with the board last Friday evening.

What came near being serious happened to Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Bohm-falk last Sunday when they left Yan-cey and on turning a sharp curve collided with a car driven by a Mexican.
Fortunately no one was hurt.

The Jungman family, one of the oldest in this section, would be much pleased and think it would mean a lot to Devine to have the old bridge which washed away some years ago at head of Chico Lake, replaced by a new bridge. This family owns a farm and ranch up there, practically cut off from the lower section by the loss of this bridge. We started in recently to rebuild a number of bridges destroyed or injured by high water, but the WPA work has been shifted and we don't know now where we are "at".

Several farmers report receiving around $100 the acre for their Irish potatoes; the first 90-day crop. Others are beginning their green bean harvest, which may or may not do so well. The beans will bear on for some time, with no bad luck, while the potato lands are ready for peanuts, popcorn or regular field corn, which will do well on irrigated lands
even planted this late.

"EENY—MEENY—MINEY—MO"

"Eeny—Meeny—Miney—Mo", a modern operetta, will be presented by the Hondo High School Choral Club on Friday, May 22.

"Eeny—Meeny—Miney—Mo" is a modern musical comedy telling the story of a young girl who has a very good time—and two beaux, one of them in Japan for an extended stay, the other an ever-present. Before she can in any way make up her mind which is the right one the Mother of one of the boys arrives and announces that she has come to take the girl with her to Japan for the wedding. The girl is amazed, but agrees with her classmates that "Japan is too far away from the U. S. A." However, Bob arrives in time to save the day and the girl knows her own mind and decides to go "traveling with him!"

A rehearsal of a Japanese operetta opens the way for a display of a box of robes from Japan, adding a picturesque feature.

The comedy is lightened by Sammy, the colored boy, who likes to "sing ob de Souflan," but doesn't like to work.

The love element is so handled through songs that no school need fear using this little love story.

The settings for the operetta are as follows:

Act I:—Girls dormitory in girls school.

Act II:—Out-door evening scene in garden.

Act III:—Stage set for Japanese operetta.

The cast for this operetta is as follows:

Virginia Lee—The favorite senior in Miss Grundy's select school for girls (Ethelyn Ney).

Mercedes Penn—A fun loving Junior (Ginger Fusselman.)

Elizabeth Rannel—Virginia's particular chum, a born tease (Jo Reily.)

Madge Cross—Miss Grundy's pet (Zonie Taylor.)

Isabel Arms—Who likes to make up songs (Ada B. Carter.)

Miss Grundy—Mistress of the school and a "born aristocrat" (Anna Laura Welhausen.)

Sammy—Colored boy-of-all-work at the school (Eva Mae Hull.)

Mrs. Lair—Mother of Bob and full of "surprises" (Anna Marie Saathoff.)

Maid—(Gwendolyn Gray.)

F. F. A. BOYS WIN CERTIFICATES OF MERIT.

Five Hondo F. F. A. members went to Dilley Saturday where they took examinations for Certificates of Merit. These certificates are awarded for special interest and work on any branch of agriculture.

Hondo boys took eighteen tests and passed all of them. The subjects included soil conservation, parliamentary procedure, beef production, pork production, vaccination, marking and branding cattle, dehorning of cattle.

Six certificates were won by Hugh Meyer; five by Bonnard Rothe, three by Henry Bendele and Ben Oefinger, and two by Hugo Schweers.

Radio Program Scheduled for 5 P. M. Saturday

Part of the Glee Club will broadcast over Station W. O. A. I. Saturday, May 16, from five to five-thirty. An audition was held and approved by the executive board of that station and now a broadcast is to be made. The program will be very interesting because it is composed of a great variety of musical numbers. This will be the first time that a program of this kind has been broadcast by our Glee Club. Before the programs have consisted of vocal numbers only. This year the program will be made up of vocal numbers, piano solo, piano duets, violin solo, and flute duet. The broadcast is under the direction of Miss Wilma Spratt, the Glee Club director.

The program is as follows: Sextette—Evelyn Barnes, Anna Welhausen, Eva Mae Hull, Ethelyn Ney, Ginger Fusselman, and Ada Bell Carter.

Flute Duet—Jo Reily and Merle McCall.

Vocal Solo—Ethelyn Ney.

Sextette—same as first.

Vocal Solo—Anna Welhausen.

Piano Duet—Frances Fly and Jean Merriman.

Vocal Duet—Evelyn Barnes and Anna Welhausen.

Violin Solo—Billie Merritt.

Vocal Solo—Evelyn Barnes.

Piano Solo—Adell Scott.

Sextette—same as first.

Sis Merritt and Miss Spratt will accompany the girls. Don't forget the time of the broadcast. Station W. O. A. I. Saturday, May 16, from Five to Five-Thirty P. M. Every one be sure to listen to the broadcast.

HONDO SENDS DUCHESS TO UVALDE HONEY FESTIVAL.

Hondo was one of the twelve neighboring towns which sent a duchess to the coronation of the Queen Bee of the Uvalde Honey Festival, Miss Wilma Russell, Thursday night.

Hondo's duchess was Miss Anna L. Welhausen, who was escorted by Mr. Bill DuBose. The duchesses represented twelve flowers from which honey is gathered. There was a large parade in Uvalde Thursday, led by the Sul Ross band from Alpine. There were also many other men and women of prominence who were in Uvalde for the occasion.

H. E. GIRLS ON PARADE.

Monday afternoon the long looked forward to style show was given by the H. E. girls. The pajamas, school dresses and street dresses which were modeled looked very attractive and they were modeled nicely. Practically every color, style, and design were displayed.

The pajamas were modeled first, followed by the pajama dance which was given by Susie Muennink, Helen Burgin, Lela Grace Reily, Jo Reily, Ginger Fusselman, Fern Ulbrich, and Elizabeth Reynolds, with Sis Merritt accompanying.

The school dresses next were displayed. Then a piano solo by Adelle Scott, a humorous interpretation by Ginger Fusselman, a violin solo by Billy Merritt, and a vocal solo by Ethelyn Ney.

Martin Noonan sang during the modeling of the street dresses which followed Ethelyn's song. Miss Spratt played the entire time the garments were being displayed.

Many were pleasantly surprised by the work the girls have been doing. They have learned a great deal about sewing in this last term which will be helpful to them in their future lives.

THE FIFTH BATTALLION.

Alma made a flying trip to Victoria this week-end. What did you see Alma?

Glenrose says she went to see another country school program. We had better watch out—else we will lose Glenrose.

Adabell visited her Uncle and Aunt at Seco.

Robert Lee spent Sunday in Yancey.

Doyle, did you bring us anything from San Antonio—also—when did Mr. Deeds go to town?

Glenrose, Alma, Walter R., E. J., and Betty all brought flowers for the room last week.

SENIORS TO BE HONORED.

The Seniors each received an invitation Monday which read like this: A banquet will be given in the study hall, By the Junior Class honoring the Seniors all, We want especially you to attend our feast, Don't let us down, we'll show you a good time at least.

And the Juniors meant exactly what they wrote on the invitations! Excuses won't be accepted. We want every Senior and High School Teacher to be there to share the fun with us.

LITERARY GLANCES.

There is a new magazine in the library from which you may read topics on which to report for English. The name of this magazine is "The Current Digest". If you have enough points for outside reading in English you will enjoy reading this magazine as a pastime. The topics are condensed and are very easy to read.

Whether you are interested in Sports, Health, Foreign Affairs, or Domestic subjects, you will be able to find something that will be of interest to you in this magazine.

You may get a copy of this magazine by simply asking the librarian for a copy of "The Reader's Digest".

OWLS 7, RAG-KNOTS 5.

The Owls defeated the Rag-Knots in a practice game on the Plaza Tuesday afternoon, by the score of 7 to 5.

The Rag Knots, led by M. Grell were unable to hold down their throws from the outfield to second base. Bob Zerr, home-run slugger for the Owls, knocked a home run early in the game, but the Rag-Knots tied the score a little later.

Finger pitched for the Owls, while Renken and DuBose pitched for the Rag-Knots.

THE THIRD GRADE.

Miss Gene Rapaport presented Nellie Mae Scott in a violin recital, Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, at San Pedro Playhouse, San Antonio, Texas.

Gladys Bohlen visited in New Braunfels, Texas, Sunday.

Hal Hunter attended the Bee Honey Festival in Uvalde, Texas.

Doris Jean Stiegler attended a funeral in Brackett, Texas, Sunday afternoon.

SOPHOMORES.

Howard Haby and David Williams are the only Sophomores who have perfect attendance records for the first eight months of school.

REFRAIN FROM THE PROFANE.

Use of good words in everyday speech is commonly neglected by adults as well as youths. Extreme care should be exercised when choosing words to express ourselves. They are the best representations of ones mental condition and moral intelligence and intellectual being to his audience. Diction exerts a great deal of influence.

Profanity is an abuse of a language. It is said to be "strong talk" but in truth it is very weak, a meaningless, perky repetition of set phrases that depend upon the tone of the voice to convey their meaning. In the Middle Ages profanity had a good, clear meaning and was free from the excessive use of abusive words; but we must remember that that age is past.

In such an environment as a high school, with teachers to set examples for us, we should be much more thoughtful of our diction. We must remember that our choice and use of words reflect and represent our character and our intelligence.

MR. BROXTON TO ASHERTON.

Mr. M. I. Broxton, the Science teacher and principal in the Hondo High School, will go to Asherton next year. This is Mr. Broxton's eighth year in Hondo, his first being in '28. He will take a step forward, as he will hold the position of superintendent at Asherton. We are sorry to lose such a good teacher and principal but are glad that Mr. Broxton has obtained a higher position. Even though he will not be here next year no one will forget him.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GETTING OLD.

Happiness is for all who strive to be happy and those who laugh are happy. Laughter braces us up, makes us feel fine and keeps us in prime mental condition. The man who has laughed his way through life has nothing to fear of the future, his conscience is clear. Laughter is synonymous with action, and action dispels gloom, care, trouble, worry and the like. Get in the habit of laughing. But smiling is better than nothing and a chuckle is better still—but out and out laughter is the real thing.

UNUSUAL SIGHT.

Two Irishmen came to a railroad crossing. The gates were down.

Stopping the car, they settled down until the train should pass, but both were soon asleep.

With thundering wheels the express dashed past, causing them to open their eyes.

"I say," said one, "wasn't that well-lighted village we passed through?"

"Yes," yawned his companion, "an' did you notice that the farmhouse was on fire?"—El Paso West News.

YOUR NEIGHBORS Have ALL-GAS KITCHENS

New Braunfels, Texas. Gentlemen: I find that gas far surpasses any other type of fuel from the standpoint of economy, cleanliness, speed and convenience. Cooking is no trouble at all with my automatically controlled, fully insulated gas range, and the satisfaction of knowing that there is always a plentiful supply of hot water on hand for any and all uses is worth a lot to any home maker. My gas bills during the summer months averaged less than 13c per day. Yours very truly, (Signed) MRS. JULIUS SCHLEYER.

TIME IS SHORT!

While the offer lasts TERMS less than 30¢ a day! (Operates for about 12¢ a day)

• The time for deciding on an All-Gas Kitchen for your home is at hand. The remarkable All-Gas Kitchen offer of terms less than 30c a day will expire before long. Your neighbors have All-Gas Kitchens—why shouldn't you? Make life simpler and happier with this finest of all household conveniences: the Modern All-Gas Kitchen.

BRONCHOS TRIM EDGEWOOD
ATHLETICS 7 TO 2.

The Hondo Broncos made it three straight victories over San Antonio last Sunday, when they trounced Edgewood Athletics 7 to 2.

Two home runs by Doug. Locke and Rock in the seventh and ninth innings saved the visitors from a shutout.

The Bronchos played errorless ball behind the six-hit pitching of Reitzer, who struck out eleven men leaving only one player to reach second base.

Hondo started the ball rolling in the first inning, when Windrow walked, went to third on Lamb's single and scored on Sadler's fly to left.
Hollmig was out at first—Bose singled and Lamb scored on a double steal—Gerfers walked—Baker followed with a single scoring DuBose with the third run of the inning. Vaughn flew out for the final out of the inning. The Bronchos staged another rally in the seventh, scoring four runs on four hits and a walk.
Reitzer, with a single and double,
and two singles led the hitting attack for the Bronchos.

Next Sunday the Bronchos enter the San Antonio Rangers on the diamond. Perry Winkle, manager of the Rangers, says he's going to be here with a team that will deal with Hollmig's Bronchos plenty tough, so you ball fans who enjoy a real ball game be on hand Sunday afternoon at 3:30, on the plaza and watch the Rangers try to tame the savage Bronchos.

CASTROVILLE, TEXAS, TUESDAY, MAY 12, 1936

Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Meyer of Shertz and Mrs. Max Melcher and Mrs. Annie Martin of San Antonio visited Mrs. Joe Groff and son, Elmer, last Sunday.

Mrs. Val. Mechler of San Antonio and Mrs. John Mechler and daughter, Mrs. Ed. Grossenbacher, of LaCoste were visitors here Tuesday.

After a week of threatening clouds,
a fine rain fell here last Friday amounting to one and one-half inch.
South of town it rained much heavier while to the North it was only half an inch.

Oats cutting has started and while the yield will not be large it will be of good quality. With some more rain a good corn crop will be harvested.

Chas. Burell spent several days at Del Rio last week.

Com. H. J. Bippert attended the Commissioners' Court at Hondo Monday.

The entertainment given by the High School students of the Parochial school at the St. Louis Hall Friday night, was largely attended and much enjoyed.

MRS. OTHELIA JUNGMAN.

Mrs. Othelia Jungman died at Hondo on Monday, May 4th, 1936, at 4:25 A. M., after an illness of months duration, well fortified with the last Sacraments of the Catholic Church of which she had been a faithful member.

Mrs. Jungman was born on Dec.
11th, 1873. She was married to Edw.
Jungman on October 26, 1897, and of this union two children were born, Julius Jungman of Castroville, and Mrs. Walter Menck of Natalia. She is also survived by six grand children, two brothers, Louis M. Tondre and Frank Tondre of Castroville, besides many other near and dear relatives to mourn her passing.

The corps was brought to Castro-ville on the same day, and reposed in her home where it was viewed by hundreds who knew her living.

A faithful wife a good mother, a sincere friend has gone to her last reward.

The funeral took place Wednesday at 9:30 and after services at the home the corpse was carried to the St. Louis Catholic Church where a Mass of Requiem was offered by Rev. Dean J. Lenzen for the repose of her soul. Remains were interred in the Catholic Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Herman and
Wm. Jungman, Leo and Eugene
Jungman, Oscar Kauffman and Joe
Tondre, all nephews of the deceased.

To the grief-stricken we offer our sincerest condolences in this their hour of sorrow. May a good Heavenly Father comfort them all in their great bereavement. May she rest in peace.

CHEVROLET SALES REACH HIGH MARK.

Chevrolet dealers' car and truck
sales in April totalled 134,431 units, setting a new all-time high mark for any single month in the company's history. W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co., announced.
Sales for the year to May 1, totaling 406,620, set a new all-time record for the first four months of a year.

The achievement followed close on a record-breaking March, which, until April figures were in, stood as the greatest single month Chevrolet ever experienced.

April sales represent an increase of nearly 35 per cent over sales in April, 1935, which totaled 99,811.
The first four months' sales were an increase of 48 per cent over those of 1935, which were 274,121.

Sales of used cars in April totalled 197,270. Mr. Holler reported, producing a total of 679,104 used car sales for the first four months. Both these figures represent new all time highs. The greatest previous single used-car month in the company's history was March 1930, when 174,542 units were sold, and the greatest corresponding four-months' period was in 1930, when sales totalled 456,532.

"All phases of the dealers' business shared in the increase," Mr. Holler said. "Whether considered from the standpoint of total unit sales, of truck sales, or of used car sales, April set a brand new mark. Heavy volume of used car business contributed to the new car results by keeping dealers' inventories advantageously low."

ESCAPE

"Into each life some rain must fall."
"That's true, but you can't blame one for wanting to get in out of the wet."

GOOD REASON

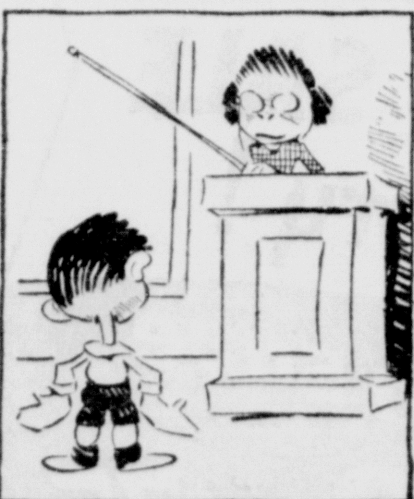

"How did Pa act when you asked him for my hand?"
"Very gentle and courteous. It took me completely by surprise."
"I told him you used to be a pugilist."

JUST LIKE ONE

Mrs. Newbride—How did you like the cake we had for supper? It was a sponge cake.
Hubby—A sponge cake, was it? I missed the sand and shells in it, but otherwise it was a perfect imitation of a real sponge.

EXACTLY

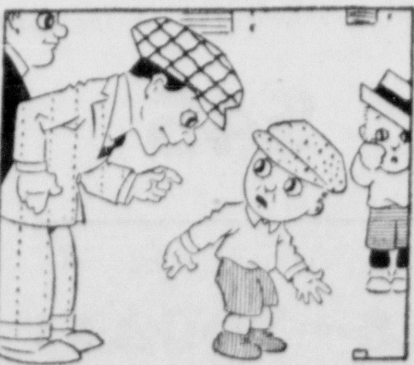

"Jimmy, what is loyalty?"
"Loyalty is that spirit which causes man to turn down an offer of more money from the other fellow."

ADVICE

He—Do you think a man should marry young?
She—No. He should wait until he has accumulated a little wealth.

ALMOST READY

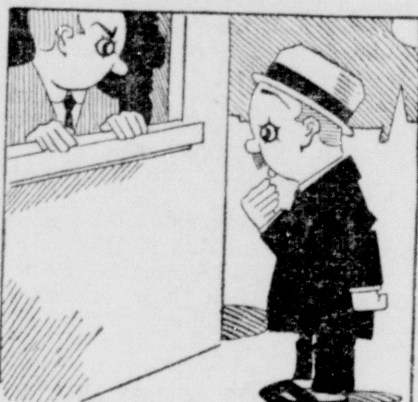

"Say son, you shouldn't fight that way."
"Aw, hold off your peace talk. One more punch on the nose and I'll have this kid ready to listen to me."

CHANGE THE BILL

"And when we're married darling, I'll spend every evening home with you."
"That's what you do now. I was hoping I'd have an evening to myself once in a while then."

FAIR PLAY

"Hello Jim, how do you like your new apartment?"
"All right, except that a man across the hall is learning to play the cornet."
"You ought to have a trombone."
"I have, that's why he got the cornet."

NO BARRIERS

"I asked her to kiss me, without avail."
"You were right to stipulate that. Kissing through a veil spoils half the fun."

MIGHT MUZZLE IT

Poet—I have here a bit of stray verse.
Editor—Take it to the pound master.

A LITTLE FUZZY

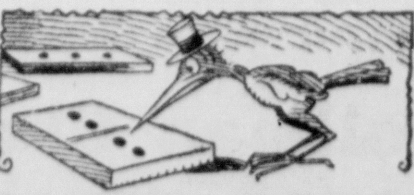

He—Doesn't Mary look like a peach tonight?
She—Yes, but she didn't get the bloom evenly distributed.

A SUMMER STORM

She—You used to rave over my liquid voice.
He—I know I did. But I did not imagine that your words would come in such torrents.

YOUR MOVE

Bird—What kind of raisins are in these funny cakes anyway?

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

City Life: Five young men lounging in front of an upper East side tenement . . . It's three o'clock in the morning . . . They've had a few drinks and are kidding among themselves. . . . A shuffling figure comes in sight . . . One of the five makes a wisecrack . . . It's a hot one and all laugh loudly . . . The shuffling figure stops and draws a revolver . . . A flash and a report . . . Four boys flee . . . The shuffling one slinks away cursing . . . Ten minutes later, a policeman pokes his club into the ribs of a figure slumped on a doorstep . . . Then he sees blood . . . The young man dies soon after reaching the hospital . . . And his four companions can't recall what it was that made them laugh so hard.

Busy hands: Residents of Suttons place, that swanky settlement that sprang up among the tenements fronting on East river, rubbed their eyes. For 15 years or more, the four-faced clock on the tower of the old brewery between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth hadn't run. Nevertheless, the hands were moving. They weren't showing the correct time however. At intervals, some moved forward and some backward. It really was a bit jittery. Investigation disclosed the fact that, fearing the works would fall down and injure someone, the police had removed them. Thus, the hands were playthings of the breezes.

Ghetto glimpse: Housewives blowing the feathers of live chickens . . . To determine something or other . . . An old man, with a shawl about his frail shoulders, regarding the passing throngs with deepest, smoldering eyes . . . More housewives looking at fish swimming in tanks . . . Tenement mothers shouting down orders to children from upper windows . . . Washings flapping high above littered court yards . . . A push cart pickle vender crying his wares . . . A white-bearded ancient trundling a little hand organ on a dismantled baby carriage . . . A bearded patriarch reading by the light of a flickering candle.

Harassed Citizens: "Having made my peace with the government—at least I paid the first quarter and am trusting to luck to scrape up the other three—now I find that the state of New York will have to be dealt with. Whoever designed the blank for the Empire State's income tax must have been the originator of codes used during war times. I haven't the slightest idea how to fill it out. But I glean enough to know that I owe the state and owe plenty. I'm wondering if I couldn't arrange with Uncle Sam and Governor Lehman to take over my salary and allow me enough to live on. I'd be better off all around and wouldn't have to fill out those forms. Very respectfully, John S. S." Sounds good to me!

Mike fright: George M. Cohan, according to his own declaration, doesn't care for radio. That is, he doesn't care to go into radio steadily. He has a number of reasons. One is that he's heard friends use material that showed how much of a grid radio really is for the performer. Another is that he—though the author of more than half a hundred plays or maybe a hundred since he's lost count—hasn't the slightest idea of how to prepare a radio script. Then there's the microphone. He's been facing audiences for many years now and feeling quite natural while doing it. But a microphone makes him nervous!

Service: On the edge of the fashionable upper east side section is a shop that makes shoes to match costumes. All the patrons have to do is bring in the cloth and the shoe people will do the rest. On Fifth avenue, there is an establishment that makes bags to "accompany any costume" at a charge of $15. The depression really is at an end.

Berkeley, Calif., Wants Everyone Fingerprinted

Berkeley, Calif.—Berkeley has decided officially to be the first city of the United States to attain finger-printing of all its citizens.

In starting its present campaign, Berkeley has three major objectives in view:

First: To derive all benefits that are recognized as coming from a complete fingerprinting record of all of a city's inhabitants.

Second: To set an example for other cities of the United States until, it hopes, the movement becomes nationwide.

Third: To remove from the public mind the idea of stigma that attaches to fingerprinting because it has been used largely in the past in connection with criminal operations.

Hens in Egg Race to Cackle on Radio

Dallas, Texas.—The hens entered in the international egg-laying contest at the Texas Centennial exposition probably won't understand or care, but their nests will be wired for sound. Also for publicity. The hens will settle to their task June 1. When the first egg drops into the super-comfortable nests which the exposition will provide a buzzer will sound and an attendant will hurry into the henery with a microphone, and the hen's cackling will be picked up for a waiting radio audience.

Filet Crocheted Set That's Fun to Do; Practical to Use on Favorite Chair

Pattern 5517

Have you ever noticed that the most comfortable chair in the room gets the hardest wear? Then that's the one to protect, as you can so easily with lovely filet crocheted. A crocheted hook, some string, and this exclusive design are all one needs to turn out a lovely chair set. Butterflies and flowers form the design, and

Vitamin D Diet Offers New Food Value, Study Shows

Experiments which suggest an unexpected human value to be derived from vitamin D were made public at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The findings were derived from 1,000 X-ray photographs of rats which had been fed diets containing more or less vitamin D, comparable to the diets of human beings. The pictures were taken after a buttermilk-barium drink, like that given human subjects previous to X-ray examination.

Investigators found that food residues were retained twice as long in the intestinal tract after a previous diet deficient in vitamin D as compared with retention from a diet in which this vitamin is plentiful.

Rules of Life

THE longer I live the more I feel the importance of adhering strictly to the rules which I have laid down for myself in such matters:

1. To hear as little as possible.
2. To believe nothing of others.
3. To be absolutely forced to it.
4. Never to drink in the spirit of one who circulates an ill report.
5. Always to moderate, as far as I can, the unkindness which is expressed towards others.
6. Always to believe that, if the other side were heard, a very different account would be given of the matter.—Charles Simeon.

Baseball's 100th Birthday to Be Observed This Year

The birth of baseball at Cooperstown, N. Y., will be celebrated there this summer on its 100th anniversary. The Albany legislature is being asked to vote $5,000 toward studying the development of the game from the beginning and to advertise the celebration. The field on which the first game was played is called Doubleday field after the inventor of the game. The baseball museum of records of the sport and its greatest players also is located at Cooperstown.

The body of the new Firestone High Speed Tire is made from selected long-staple cotton dipped in liquid rubber, absorbing eight pounds of rubber in every hundred pounds of cotton. This patented Gum-Dipping process insulates every fiber in every cotton cord, preventing internal friction which creates the heat so destructive to tire life, and giving to the tire added strength.

This heavy, broad, traction and non-skid tread is held to the cord body of the tire with Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped Cords, a patented construction, making the cord body and tread an inseparable unit.

A leading university in 2350 tire tests has found that the new, scientifically designed Firestone High Speed tread stops a car up to 25% quicker. Its super-traction and non-skid efficiency have also been proved in the famous Pike's Peak Race where for eight consecutive years it has been used on the winning cars.

"Federal Triangle" in Washington.

Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

THE annual spring rush of tourists to Washington is on. In the Nation's Capital even the perennial visitor is greeted with something new to enjoy. This year new buildings, recently opened, in and near the great triangle between the Capitol and the Ellipse, will be a feature of a tour of the city.

Gaze down upon the modern Washington from an airplane. As always, the simple grandeur of the White House, the Capitol, the Lincoln Memorial, and the towering Washington monument draw the eye and make the heart beat faster. But near them new wonders have appeared.

Quietly and steadily, with so little fuss that residents were hardly aware of it, thousands of carloads of stone and metal—whole mountains in the aggregate—have been hauled into the city and reared into monumental buildings.

Acres and acres of old, unsightly structures have been razed on Capitol Hill, around its base, and along broad, historic Pennsylvania avenue. In their place stretch parks, wide boulevards, or long, handsome houses of government.

In the angle formed by the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and the new Constitution avenue, beautiful Champs-Elysees or Rue de Rivoli of Washington, rises a mighty wedge of masonry, the famed "Federal Triangle," eight blocks long.

In this single group is the most amazing collection of government buildings that the world has seen. They make their own weather. In hottest summer the air inside is cooled to the temperature of a fine spring day.

Beneath the roofs of this Triangle work nearly 20,000 government employees, about as many as the entire population of Batavia, N. Y., or Daytona Beach, Fla. Every day dozens of people get lost in its 20 miles of corridors.

Massive and Beautiful.

In sheer size the cluster of buildings is staggering, even from high above. It is as if half a dozen or more of New York's tallest skyscrapers have been laid on their sides, formed into a blunted arrowhead, and cut and twisted to make courts and wings. One unit—the Commerce department—is longer than the Chrysler building is tall.

But it is not merely an impression of bigness that one has in the wandering plane. Long ranks of majestic columns, graceful arcades, a wide plaza, and solid rock walls give a beauty and simplicity that make these enormous newcomers fit companions for the classic White House and Capitol.

The airplane turns, and far off in the distance, beyond the Capitol dome, appears a gleaming white marble temple, comparable in beauty even to the noble Lincoln Memorial. This is the new United States Supreme Court building, the only real home of its own that the nation's highest court has had.

For the first time in American history a citizen now might gaze upon the separate, permanent abodes of the three branches of his government—legislative, the Capitol; executive, the White House, and now, for the judicial, long sheltered in the old senate chamber, this temple whose dignity and impressiveness match the majesty of the law itself.

Suspended in History.

As you cruise about, other splendid white buildings appear, new jewels in the familiar setting along the Potomac.

Beyond the Lincoln shrine the new Arlington Memorial bridge links north and south. Down the Virginia shore of the winding river a wide Applan way, the Mount Vernon Memorial highway leads to the home and tomb of the Father of his Country.

From the steps of the Capitol all the way down to the river, two and a third miles away, sweeps a broad stretch of tree-dotted park land. Gone is much of the mushroom growth of temporary wartime structures. Their removal gives new beauty to this Mall, main feature of the grand plan conceived by the Revolutionary soldier-artist, Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, when he laid out this city with broad, sweeping, prophetic strokes to be the capital of a vast country.

Hanging between earth and sky, you seem suspended in history, halfway between the past and the unfathomable future. How would the city look a hundred years hence, or twenty, or a thousand?

The Senate Office building, off there, at the left, has had its face lifted—and a handsome face it now is, with a long row of Roman Doric columns. A street car line that once marred the scene dips discreetly underground. Beneath a broad lawn is a subterranean garage in which 270 senatorial cars can be parked.

Supreme Court Building.

But to look upon the latest crowning glory of Capitol hill one should stand on the front steps of the Capitol, where Presidents are inaugurated, and see the new Supreme Court building, its beauty heightened by the green of trees and grass.

It occupies a historic site. Early patriots in powdered wigs forgathered at a famous old hotel run by William Tunnell on this spot before the War of 1812. After the British burned the Capitol in 1814, a building erected here housed congress until the marks of the torch were erased. In Civil war times it was used as a military prison.

Everything about the Supreme court's home is on a majestic scale.

Look at those blocks of marble, one at each side of the steps. Each block weighs 45 tons. They are two of the heaviest marble blocks ever brought into Washington.

The two bronze doors weigh 3,000 pounds apiece. The eight Corinthian columns are 51½ feet high. The pediment above them catches the eye, not alone for its size, but for its interesting sculptures in which the features of historic or living men are recognized.

Inside the massive bronze portals a main hall lined with 36 stately columns—each made from one solid piece of stone—leads to the courtroom where the nine black-robed justices sit. At their own request, the room was made only about 60 per cent larger in floor area than the old Supreme court room in the Capitol.

Behind the courtroom are the quartered-oak-paneled offices of the justices, each of whom will have about as much space as all had together in the crowded Capitol. Only three had offices there at all, and most of the members of the court do much of their work at home. To assure the justices privacy, the new building's corridors can be closed by big bronze gates.

Wonderful Libraries.

In the Folger Shakespeare library, down the street, reposes a fine collection of books and Elizabethan treasures, even the supposed corset of Queen Elizabeth, solemnly stowed away in a vault and shown only to a chosen few.

Behind the Library of Congress an annex almost to double its capacity is being built, although already it is the largest library in the world, with more than 9,840,000 books, pamphlets, pieces of music, and other items at the latest count.

Down from Capitol hill, past a shining new House Office building lately reared beside the first one, the trail of the new Washington leads to Pennsylvania avenue.

In some of its now vanished buildings—masses of rubble and ruined walls then—the first bricks flew in the "bonus army" riots of 1932. Halfway along "The Avenue," between the Capitol and White House, there stretched off to the left in the early days of the city a dreary swamp where Washingtonians were wont to shoot "reedbirds."

Later the swamp was filled in, and the old Center Market, dubbed the Marsh or "Ma'sh" Market, was erected there. Five years ago, the ramshackle market buildings still occupied the spot, and thousands of rats inhabited the premises which had long been a cornucopia for them.

An energetic government hit upon this location as a key point in its building program. Here would rest the tip of the Federal Triangle. Wrecking operations began. Scientific Piped Pipers from the Agricultural department disposed of the rats, which at first devoured the workmen's lunches. On this unlikely site now stands a structure in many ways unique—the National Archives building.

Here for the first time is a worthy, safe, and permanent home for the precious records of the nation, some scrawled in faded ink on yellowed paper by early patriot hands, others punched out on modern typewriters, or even contained in sound motion-picture films which will be preserved and shown here.

To guard against deterioration—to keep Father Time at bay as long as possible—both sunlight and natural air are barred from the archive storage sections, which are windowless

Tremendous Turnip

THINGS are done in a big way, down in the Ozarks.

That's what Len B. Mitchell learned on his journey to Hot Springs, Ark.

Mitch stayed overnight in the cabin of a hospitable mountaineer, and after supper had been disposed of and the hound dogs fed, he and his host discussed life's problems.

"I cleared four square acres here when I moved in. Built this cabin and an eight-foot fence from the timber," recited the mountaineer.

"Then I planted the land to corn that wouldn't grow. Next I tried a field of turnips. The only turnip that came up was exactly in the center of my cleared ground but the growing it did, more'n made up for the failure of the rest of the crop."

"That turnip grew and grew and nothing would stop it. I just wish those turnips that didn't come up could have seen it. My, but they'd been ashamed."

"Well sir, before I could harvest that lousy vegetable it got so big it pushed down my eight-foot fence on all four sides."

On his return home, Mitch stopped again at the cabin. And he was questioned by the mountaineer.

"What's going on in the city?" asked that worthy. "Any manufacturing?"

"Yes," answered Mitch, "where I went they are building the largest kettle ever known. It's 440 feet across and 79 feet high."

"What in tarnation will they use it for?" asked the Ozarkian.

"They'll cook your turnip in it," replied Mitchell.

The Deflated Bear

BRIEF as the deer hunting season is, hundreds of city dwellers invade the Wisconsin woods every fall.

Two of them established a camp consisting of cabin, supply of canned food and condiments, and a nearby spring for drinking purposes.

One day, and this is vouched for by August C. Hennig, American Legion leader in Illinois, the hunters returned to camp and found they had left the door of the cabin open.

Bear tracks were sprinkled liberally outside and within the cabin signs of an invasion were unmistakable. Canned goods weren't disturbed but a six-pound bag of dried apples and a two-pound sack of salt were missing.

The hunters sped immediately to the spring and found the bear had knelt there for a long draft to wash down his salty luncheon.

Following the trail again, the hunters traveled only 200 yards when they discovered Mr. Bruin, growling helplessly and swollen to immoderate proportions. The long drink had made the dried apples swell and the bear's expanding stomach had grown larger and larger until finally his feet no longer touched the ground.

The four-cornered balloon was at once dispatched by the nimrods. Before securing the pelt, one of them, who was musically inclined, deflated the bear by inserting a reed instrument in its side and practicing the finger movement for such tunes as "Over the Waves," as the bloot subsided.

When the bear was completely deflated the hunter had become recognized as an accomplished musician.

Pale as Paste

HIS personal physician, Doctor Ramsey, once concocted a sticking substance of unparalleled strength, asserts Harry W. Ewert of the Chicago Board of Trade weighing department.

"Doc kept the ingredients of his great invention secret," Ewert says. "But I can tell you it was composed partly of a mixture of parboiled fishhooks, mustard plasters and worn out Scotch pocketbooks."

"My friend's only difficulty was in obtaining capital necessary for its manufacture in bulk. So he decided to demonstrate its holding qualities."

"The doctor wheeled out his small stunt plane one day and hired an aviator to fly it. He dropped a small line, approximately the dimensions of a human hair, from the plane and grabbed ahold of it. Then he clung tight while the aviator made a perfect takeoff."

"Doctor Ramsey rode through the air with the greatest of ease for more than two hours, dangling from the hairline, which of course, was fastened to the plane by the sticking liquid."

"When they alighted it was necessary to burn away three and three-quarter inches of the plane's surface with an acetylene torch in order to detach the hair."

"The doc was pale as paste after his adventure but the demonstration proved a boon to everyone, including the manufacturer who sold doc a new plane."

Reducing Gold Chloride

When a solution of gold chloride is reduced to gold under carefully controlled conditions the metal is formed in particles whose diameter is of the order of a millionth of an inch. Such particles, writes Dr. Thomas M. Beck, in the Chicago Tribune, are entirely too small to settle out of solution within any measurable time interval. Moreover, they possess electrical charges, quite small ones, but sufficient to prevent them from sticking together and forming larger particles.

D'HANIS DOINGS.

Sister Mary Margaret of Santa Rosa Infirmary, San Antonio, spent Mother's Day here at the home of her mother, Mrs. Emma Rothe.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl O'Neill and children, Pat, Biddy, Colleen, and Earline of Luling visited Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rothe Saturday.

A delegation from here under the leadership of F. J. Carle, chairman of publicity for the Fort Lincoln celebration, attended the Honey Festival at Uvalde last Thursday. Three D'Hanis cars were in the parade which opened the festival.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weyand entertained their son, Lawrence, who made his Solemn Communion on Sunday. A turkey dinner was served to the following guests: Rev. E. Zuber, Mrs. F. J. Rothe; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Riha of Castroville, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zimmermann and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Zimmermann, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Lutz and family, and Miss Lila Craig of San Antonio; and Mr. Raymond Zimmermann of Houston.

Mrs. Emil Nehr had as her guest last week-end her mother, Mrs. Biediger, of LaCoste.

Messrs. F. J. Carle, Henry Biry, and Arthur H. Rothe went to Austin Wednesday on business concerning the marker to be unveiled at Fort Lincoln May 26.

The following made their First Solemn Communion in Holy Cross Church on Sunday morning, and renewed their baptismal vows that evening: Bertha Koch, Mary Ann Finger, Elizabeth Nehr, Mina Jane Nester, Ruth Huser, Edward Koch, Bernard Zinsmeyer, Donald Albrecht, Lawrence Weyand, Lawrence Ross, Joseph Dubray, James Richter, William Turner, and Francis Brown.

Miss Caroline Nester of San Antonio spent Sunday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nester. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kelly and Mrs. Barnitz Carle of Hondo.

WALL-ZERR.

A quiet wedding took place at the Holy Cross Rectory at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, May 9, 1936, when Miss Isabella Helene Zerr became the bride of Thomas Wall, son of Mrs. E. L. Wall of San Antonio. Reverend Eugene Zuber performed the marriage ceremony.

The bride, who is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Zerr of this place, was lovely in a three-piece tailored suit of blue with gray accessories. The attendants were Miss Corine Zerr and Lester Zerr, sister and brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a supper was served at the home of the bride's parents to the immediate family. Guests from San Antonio were the groom's mother, Mrs. E. L. Wall, and Mrs. James Sewel.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Wall left for San Antonio, where they are at home at 404 Drake Avenue. The bride is a native of this town, a graduate of D'Hanis High School, and has a host of friends.

SECO SCHOOL NEWS.

The closing exercises of Seco School took place Wednesday evening, May 6, when a program was given by the pupils. A group of Texas Centennial Songs was sung in two parts by the Seco Sextette. A musical fantasy, "Why the Bluebonnet", was rendered by the smaller pupils in costume. A two-act play, "How the Race Was Won," included a cast made up of the older pupils. The Seco Rhythm Band, in green and white uniforms, entertained between the acts. The Fort Lincoln Rangers, orchestra led by R. F. Wolff, also contributed music during the evening.

County Superintendent C. F. Schweers made a brief talk and presented a Ninth Grade Certificate to Bertha Weyand and a State Reading Certificate to Gertrude Weyand.

The entrance prizes were won as follows: quilt by Miss Emma Rudinger, pillow cases by Mr. A. J. Boog, and towels by Miss Erna Rose Huegele.

The ladies of the P. T. A. sold sandwiches and punch. The evening's proceeds amounted to fifty-one dollars.

On Saturday the annual barbecue picnic was enjoyed by the entire community. Two baseball games opened the program of the day.

During the brief P. T. A. meeting the main topic of discussion was Seco's part in the parade of May 26, when people of this community will depict the first settlers of D'Hanis. The club will meet again on May 22 to complete plans.

BRIEDEN-VOGEL.

The marriage of Miss Josephine Theresa Vogel, daughter of Mr. Jacob Vogel, to Richard Brieden, son of Mrs. Alvina Brieden of Castroville, was solemnized Tuesday, May 12, 1936, at 9 o'clock in the morning in Holy Cross Catholic Church, with Reverend E. Zuber officiating, and Very Reverend Dean Lenzen in the sanctuary.

The altars were adorned with pink roses and white Queen Anne's lace, and floor baskets of the same flowers marked the entrance to the Sanctuary.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gown in white satin made en traine. Its simple princess lines were relieved by a standing collar adorned with flowers made of one saun and orange blossoms, which also edged the square neck. Her tulle veil was caught with a band of orange blossoms and fashioned in halo effect. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and fern. She wore a large pearl-studded gold locket belonging to the groom's mother, and which came from Germany over fifty years ago.

The maid of honor, Miss Clara Fillingier of San Antonio, and the bridesmaid, Miss Laura Brieden, sister of the groom, wore identical floor-length frocks of pink organza, with bonnets and sandals to match, and carried pink carnations and fern. The flower girl, little Miss Leatrice Rose Hans, niece of the groom, wore a long frock of pink organdie and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and fern.

The groom, his best man, Henry Vogel, and the groomsmen, Arthur Lutz, wore gray suits with boutonnières of carnations.

The choir sang Dabbelsteen's three-part Mass in C. Miss Sarah Rothe, mezzo-soprano, sang Gounod's "Ave Maria" during the offertory.

At noon a wedding dinner was served at the Vogel home. At 2 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Brieden left for a brief wedding trip, the bride wearing a two-piece suit of blue crepe, with white accessories. They will make their home at Castroville.

Out-of-town guests at the dinner were: Very Rev. J. Lenzen, Dean, Mrs. Theresa Brieden, Mrs. Alvina Brieden and daughter, Laura, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hans, and family, Mr. and Mrs. August Schott, and family, and Mr. and Mrs. William Biediger of Castroville; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brieden and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. D'HANIS HIGH SCHOOL NEWS.

CPERETTA.

On Friday evening, May 8, the Glee Club of D'Hanis High School was presented in a two-act operetta entitled "The Wild Rose", with Mr. Herman Couser conducting, and Miss Lillian Brucks accompanying. The pleasing voices of the girls in solos and choruses entertained the audience throughout the action of the play. Susie Muennink and Mary Ann Zinsmeyer danced between acts, Miss Brucks at the piano.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the High School Auditorium was the scene of the Baccalaureate service. While the three graduates, Doris Nester, Marie Britz, and Mary Louise Meyer, entered in gray caps and gowns, the processional was played by Mr. Couser, violinist, and Miss Lillian Brucks, pianist. Reverend E. Zuber delivered the invocation, the sermon and the benediction. A special choir sang "Faith of Our Fathers" and "Holy, Holy, Holy". Mr. Herman Couser, accompanied by Miss Josie Rothe, played Nevin's "The Rosary", and Miss Sara Rothe sang Cadman's "Service".

The sermon was a well-delivered discourse based on a text from the Proverbs, XII, 8: "A man shall be known by his learning; but he that is vain and foolish, shall be exposed to contempt." Father Zuber explained how true religion and true science are in perfect accord, and how there can be no contradiction between them. He cited Copernicus and Pasteur as specific examples. He gave three reasons why some intellectual men are atheists: ignorance of religion, prejudice, and an unwillingness to mold their lives according to religious standards. Father Zuber's advice to the graduates themselves was given in well-chosen words.

The Recessional music was also played by Mr. Couser and Miss Brucks.

NOTICE TRAIL DRIVERS AND HOME GUARD.

All Old Trail Drivers and members of the Civil War Home Guard of Medina County are invited to be in the parade that will open the Fort Lincoln celebration at D'Hanis on May 26, at 10 A. M. They may either ride on horseback (if horses are available) or in cars. Kindly notify Mrs. A. J. Boog, D'Hanis, who is chairman of the Entertainment Committee.

HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION MEETING.

At a mass meeting of citizens of D'Hanis in the High School Auditorium last Monday evening, a large amount of business was dispatched. Some high lights of the session were:

Miss Virginia Wallrath was appointed as a member of the Grounds Committee, in charge of decorations. The American Legion of Uvalde having offered a Color Guard for the dedication ceremonies, it has been invited for that purpose.

Upon Mr. Curran's resignation, Mr. W. O. Rothe was appointed to take his place on the Entertainment Committee.

The report of the treasurer, M. M. Koch, showed a balance of $140.80. The two wells at Fort Lincoln have been cleaned and will be treated by Dr. W. H. Smith so as to furnish sanitary water.

Speakers who have accepted invitations for the day are Honorable A. G. Waters, Insurance Commissioner, who will represent Governor Allred, and Mr. J. Marvin Hunter of Bandera. Mr. Joe Monkhouse of Uvalde has consented to act as master of ceremonies. Other speakers will be added.

The following committee was appointed to select a spot at old D'Hanis for the historic monument obtained through the efforts of Judge Haass of Hondo, and to conduct a clean-up of church grounds: Mrs. J. F. Kimmerly, Mrs. William Finger, Miss Carrie Langfeld, Mr. O. J. Reinhart, chairman, and Mr. Henry Franger.

The Entertainment Committee has made a contract with the Tune Wranglers Orchestra for the Pioneer Ball. Plans for the parade are nearing completion. Trail Drivers of Sabinal and vicinity have consented to ride, and all those living in Medina County are also invited.

The Food and Finance Committees announced that the price of a plate of barbecue and "trimmings" will be 25c.

Life Guards will be at the river throughout the day.

STEEL MAKERS say—"Ford buys the best steel." Other suppliers of materials and parts will tell you—"Nobody checks up as closely on quality and price as Ford."

This means a great deal to you as a motorist. It is our way of safeguarding the interests of every purchaser and it leads to this—"The mechanical depreciation on a Ford is less than most cars, especially after the first year."

This is one sign of the extra value in the Ford V-8. Accuracy in manufacturing is another. (The Ford is made to unusually close precision limits.) And there is a long list of fine-car features that are exclusive with Ford in the popular field.

Have you a V-8 engine in your car? You pay $1645 for it in any other car but Ford.

Does your car have Center-Poise Riding? Ford gives you this modern feature—"a front-seat ride for back-seat passengers."

Does your car have fool-proof Super-Safety Mechanical Brakes? The Ford V-8 gives you this proved design, with 186 square inches of braking surface.

Does your car have a genuine steel body structure? Does it have Safety Glass all around? Ford is the only low-price car that gives you this extra protection without extra cost.

You get these fine-car features in the Ford V-8 because of Ford manufacturing methods and low-profit policy.

$25 A MONTH, after usual down-payment, buy any model of the new Ford V-8 car—from any Ford dealer—anywhere in the United States. Ask about the new UCC 1/2% per month Finance Plan.
